

Indira Bimont, Head Trainer & Coach, While at Work

Indira is a Leadership Coach, Facilitator, and Inclusion Strategist known for her authenticity, curiosity, and intuitive approach to the workplace. Since 2013, she has been training and coaching leaders, contributing to meaningful change in organizational cultures. Indira excels in implementing leadership development programs that enhance team dynamics, playing a key role in creating inclusive and engaging work environments.

Beyond her coaching role, Indira is a catalyst for authentic cultures that promote growth for all. Her infectious humor and lighthearted approach demonstrate that effective leadership and joy can coexist. When she's not working, Indira enjoys crafting jingles, watching a good series, mixing up a tasty mocktail, and trying out the latest viral recipe. She's a proud mom to a daughter and two dogs.

Indira holds a Bachelor of Science (BS) in Finance and Communications and Rhetorical Studies from Syracuse University, enriching her well-rounded approach. Her early career in financial services at Goldman Sachs and Jefferies & Co., combined with startup experience, laid the foundation for her coaching and training practice.

At her core, Indira is dedicated to authentic leadership and creating workplaces that celebrate individuality and inspire collective success.

Sherron Washington, Marcom Strategist, The P3 Solution

Sherron Washington, M.A. is a marketing and communication (marcom) professor, speaker and author who has imparted her wisdom and expertise for over two decades. She is the founder and CEO of The P3 Solution, a full-service marketing and communications (marcomm) firm located in the Washington, DC Area, that specializes in providing simplistic marcomm consulting and training.

Sherron has an extraordinary ability to create and cultivate environments that harness authentic interactions to generate synergy that flourishes into great vibes with captivating results. She uses a combination of her marcomm business acumen and expressive personality to create a distinctive and lasting presence that encourages and influences others to be more interactive. She understands the importance of remaining true in your communication efforts to facilitate interest and engagement that amplify results.